Experience

Kimberley has been part of the Marts&Lundy team since early 2017. Her diverse background and experience have proven valuable, enabling her to provide comprehensive project management, high-level support, and foster meaningful connections with both colleagues and clients. During her time with the firm, Kimberley has collaborated with a broad spectrum of mission-driven organizations on fundraising strategy, campaign readiness, strategic planning, peer benchmarking, and case-for-support development across the nonprofit sector.

Prior to joining Marts & Lundy, Kimberley gained valuable experience through her international work in Ecuador, Uganda, Sierra Leone, Japan, and Iran. With a notable academic background encompassing a BAH in Political Science, a graduate diploma in International Project Management, and a master's degree in international development, she values the importance of continuous learning and personal development. Kimberley's previous roles include working with United Nations (UN) agencies and non-governmental organizations (NGOs). Her wealth of experience adds an invaluable layer to her role at Marts&Lundy.
