Experience

Sarah joined Marts&Lundy in 2022 as an Associate Consultant in the firm's Education and Healthcare Practices and advanced to Senior Associate Consultant in 2024 and Consultant in 2026. She brings over a decade of philanthropic experience, most recently serving as Assistant Director, Planned Giving at Dana-Farber Cancer Institute in Boston. At Dana-Farber she was responsible for managing the Institute's comprehensive planned giving marketing program and a portfolio of legacy donors and prospects. Prior to this, Sarah served as a Leadership Gift Officer at Merrimack College and as Assistant Director, Gift Policy and Terms at Harvard University.

When she is not focused on helping to advance the missions of nonprofits through philanthropy, she is passionate about traveling with her family and enjoying outdoor activities during all four seasons.
